

JAPS' STRATEGY VERY EFFECTIVE

Forces Kouropatkin to Lead His Army Against Them Despite His Reluctance.

MIKADO'S MEN ARE ON BOTH SIDES

Russian General Faces a Hundred and Forty Thousand Men on One Side--A Vast Army Behind Him.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

The Foo, June 24.—Heavy firing was heard in the direction of Port Arthur last night and resumed this morning. The firing last night lasted for several hours.

Russian Defeat
Tokio, June 24.—In an attack of four thousand Russians fifty miles northeast of Feng Huang Chang Tuesday the Russians were repulsed. They retreated toward Shih Kailing.

Taken Command
Tokio, June 24.—The Marquis Oyama, formerly marshal and chief of the general staff, has been appointed to the supreme command of the imperial armies in the field. His chief of staff will be Lieut. Gen. Kodama, late chief of general staff. Their positions vacated on the general staff in this city will be filled by Field Marshal Yamagata and Maj. Gen. Nagao.

Russian Reverses
Shan Hai Kwan, June 24.—Reports reached here yesterday of another serious Russian reverse, this time at Tang Chi, on the Suai Yen road, a short distance southeast of Ta Seli Tao.

This means that the Japanese have turned the main Russian position at Kai Chou and the army which has been driven into that place by the advance of Oku from the south after the hard fighting at Vafangou and Tel Li Sze has been cut off from the main body of Kouropatkin's army, which is about Hai Cheng.

The Japanese troops engaged in the fighting at Tang Chi are part of the force which was landed at Taku-Shan and are believed to be under command of Gen. Nodan, one of the ablest officers in the Japanese army.

Details of this latest fighting are lacking yet but the Russians are reported to have been driven back on Taschi Tao in confusion, losing 1,000 men during the fighting.

Driven Back to Their Base

London, June 24.—The correspondent of the London Daily Chronicle, telegraphing from Gen. Kuroki's headquarters, records another defeat for the Russians at the hands of the Japanese, this time at Nanyang, a town about fifty miles northeast of Feng Huang Cheng. According to his account, the Russians attacked the Japanese in force, being well supported with artillery. The fighting lasted for some time but finally resulted in the repulse of the Russian column, which retired toward the Liao Yang entrenchments.

According to this correspondent, the Japanese are again assuming the offensive and further fighting is imminent.

Censorship is Strict

Reports continue to reach London of fighting all around the Russian position at Liao Yang, but the dispatches are for the most part of a very vague nature, showing conclusively that both the Russians and the Japanese censors are perhaps more strict than ever. The Japanese can be depended upon to follow up the rule established at the breaking out of the war that no news shall be permitted to emanate from the field until any operation planned is completed. Then an account from official sources is cabled from Tokyo to London and Washington and given out by the two Japanese embassies, while the Russians follow a similar plan.

CAPTIVES ARE TO RETURN TODAY

Tanglers Problem is Nearly Solved by the Return of the Captives.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)
Washington, June 24.—A dispatch from Consul Guimere states a letter has been received from Perdicaris and Varley saying they leave this morning from Lafayette and expect to arrive in Tangiers tonight. The state department is assured the ransom has been paid and the captives released.

the dispatches of the correspondents in the field are held up in the telegraph office.

Time for Kouropatkin to Make Good
All news by means of the Russian telegraph lines is held up either at Mukden or Harbin and the correspondents with the Russian army are effectively bottled up. The inevitable result is that different accounts of the same engagements continue to arrive and are accepted as fresh when in some cases they are a fortnight old.

There is little doubt, however, that a decisive conflict is imminent in the neighborhood of Mukden. Gen. Kouropatkin has an enormous army in the field and he assured the czar some months ago that he would undertake an offensive movement before July 1 and that date is less than a week off. The Japanese are also believed to be about ready to begin their final onslaught for the possession of Port Arthur.

London, June 24.—The Russian army, it is feared by military experts, has become hopelessly entangled in the meshes of Japanese strategy.

Kouropatkin has taken the field in person to lead the main part of his force against the enemy advancing upon Liaoyang from the south. On his front Kouropatkin is facing twelve divisions of Japanese troops—144,000 men. On his left another army, strength unknown, has occupied Kuandian with at least eighteen guns. This point is north of east of Liaoyang.

Kouropatkin is now being forced to fight on his front with nearly all of his army. He is not ready to fight, and won't be until August or September. The Japanese are compelling him to fight, unprepared as he is, against a superior force on his front and another force on his flank.

Japs Repulse an Attack

A dispatch from British correspondents with Gen. Kuroki's headquarters records a Russian attack on the Japanese post of Aiyungmen on Wednesday. The Russian force consisted of two regiments of cavalry, a regiment of infantry and a battery of artillery. They were repulsed and retired to Shintaling. It is supposed, with considerable loss. The Japanese lost a major killed and nine men wounded. Shintaling is presumed here to be identified with Santaling, which is nearly midway between Hancheng and Kalping.

Rains Have Stopped.

The correspondents add that considerable forces of Russians occupy the towns and main roads on Gen. Kuroki's front, but say there has been no fighting of consequence during the last few days. Gen. Mitchenko commands the Russians in the neighborhood of Shuyen. The heavy rains have stopped and the country is drying quickly.

The announcement at Tokyo that Field Marshal Oyama has been appointed to the supreme command of all the Japanese armies, with Lieut. Gen. Kodama as his chief of staff, indicates that the months of preparation are ended and that the real campaign is about to begin.

CABINET CHANGES ARE ANNOUNCED

Moody for Attorney Generalship; Morton for Navy; and Metcalf for Commerce and Labor.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)
Washington, D. C., June 24.—Ever since it was announced that Secretary of the Navy Moody was desirous of leaving the cabinet to practice law and that Attorney General Knox was anxious to succeed Senator Matt Quay from Pennsylvania and that Secretary of Commerce and Labor Cortelyou was to become chairman of the national committee, gossip has been rife at Washington regarding the possible appointments that President Roosevelt might make to fill the vacancies.

Paul Morton of Illinois, son of former Secretary of Agriculture Morton of Cleveland's cabinet, has been named for both the secretary of the navy and the secretary of commerce and labor portfolios. It was long ago decided that Secretary Moody was to be moved to the attorney generalship as soon as Knox retired, but Morton's place was in doubt. This morning the following order has been issued by the president through Secretary Loch.

The cabinet appointments announced are: William H. Moody, Massachusetts, attorney general; Paul Morton, Illinois, secretary of the navy; Victor H. Metcalf, California, secretary of commerce and labor. The resignations of Attorney General Knox and Secretary Cortelyou are accepted, the appointments to take effect July 1st.

CANNON IS VERY SICK MAN TODAY

"Uncle Joe" is on the Vege of a Break Down—Malarial Fever Cause.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)

Chicago, June 24.—"Uncle Joe" Cannon is a sick man. He refused to give in to the ravages of malarial fever, with which he is said to be afflicted. Cannon was bundled into a special car last night by his daughter and a physician, and hurried off to his home in Danville. Providing the illness develops more seriously an effort will be made for the speaker to take a sea voyage. He has not been well for some time. He came to the Chicago convention in a condition which would put most men to bed. The excitement attending the convention acted as a stimulant, but the close of the sessions found his fever had reached a point where immediate attention was necessary and his hurried removal to Danville followed.

TAX STATUTE IS SUSTAINED

Capital Stock of Manufacturing Corporations Can Be Exempted From Taxation.

THE DISCRIMINATION IS UPHELD.

Legislature Has Full Power to Pass Laws Taxing One Class of Property While Exempting Others.

Springfield, Ill., June 24.—Many corporations and millions of dollars of capital stock in this state were affected by a decision rendered by the Illinois supreme court which upheld the constitutionality of the act exempting from assessment by the state board of equalization the capital stock of corporations organized for purely manufacturing purposes, newspaper publishing, stock breeding and the mining and sale of coal.

This act, which has been repeatedly attacked, was sustained in the case of the Hub against County Treasurer John J. Hanberg, in which the complainant sought to be relieved from paying a $40,000 assessment on its intangible property.

It was contended by the complainant that the act was discriminatory, in that it exempted the class of corporations mentioned. In passing on this point, the supreme court held that the legislature has full power, under the constitution, to provide for the taxation of the intangible property of some corporations even while exempting that of others.

Settles Partello Claim.
In denying a claim of $28,000 made by William Z. Partello, in a suit against State Auditor McCullough and the state of Illinois, the supreme court, it is believed, practically decided the suit filed recently by Attorney Levy Mayer of Chicago, attacking the convict labor law passed by the last legislature.

ELKS CHOICE IS THE CAPITAL CITY

The State Convention of That Order Will Be Held in Madison Next Year.

ANNUAL MEETING WILL SOON COME

Endeavor Associations Are Soon to Hold Their Annual Gathering.

The Second Biennial State Christian Endeavor convention will be held at Milwaukee commencing Thursday of next week and ending the following Sunday night. Miss May Cain with Miss Mabel Kustad have been elected as delegates from the local society of the Presbyterian church and Miss Sarah Venable and probably Miss Richardson will represent the Congregational society. The regular business meeting of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union will not be held till next Wednesday night and it is now known whether they will send a representative or not.

On Thursday evening Rev. J. Beveridge Lee, pastor of the Immanuel church and Dr. W. O. Carrier, both well known in religious and educational circles will give addresses. Mrs. A. J. Hutton and Senator John M. Whitehead are also on the list of speakers. Mr. Von Ogden Vogt, the old and old Beloit boy, will conduct the open question hour Saturday morning and also give the Sunday evening address.

Though nothing definite has been done toward arranging for a Sunday School picnic this year the superintendents and teachers do not favor a union picnic. The reasons for this are that they have gone to Fontana several times now and the former picnic have been more holiday excursions than a picnic. Ho-No-Nah and Capt. Buchholz's park are undoubtedly the two places that will be considered.

George Wist, a Beaver Dam barber, drowned in Beaver Dam lake while fishing. He was 25 years old and his parents reside at Waupun.

The constitutionality of the convict labor law is questioned on the ground that the word "willfully" was written in the enrolled and engrossed copy of the bill by Gov. Yates, and that with this word written in the bill the speaker of the house and the president of the senate never signed it as provided by the constitution. Oral testimony will be necessary to prove that the word "willfully" was improperly written in the bill, and the Partello decision holds that oral testimony is incompetent.

Partello sought to recover $28,000 on the ground that it was due for work done on the state reformatory at Pontiac. A bill for the amount was passed by the legislature and was vetoed by Gov. Yates.

City Treasurer's Fees.
Former City Treasurer Adam Wolf of Chicago won a victory when the supreme court decided that he properly retained $82,799 in interest which he collected during his term of office from 1896 to 1897. Wolf alleged that he was entitled to retain this amount by virtue of a city ordinance and a state law then in effect. The city attempted to have the ordinance declared invalid. In the opinion the court suggested that in the absence of any statutory prohibition a city may adopt a method of fixing a gross sum that should cover salary, clerk hire and office expenses for an office of this kind.

MR. ROOSEVELT GOES TO OYSTER BAY FOR SUMMER

The President Will Follow the First Week in July for the Fourth.

(Special by Scripps-McLain.)
Washington, June 24.—Mrs. Roosevelt left for Oyster Bay this morning. The president will follow on July 23.

CAMPAIGN WILL SOON BE OPENED

LA FOLLETTE LEADERS SEEKING THEIR CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

STATE IS CLASSED DOUBTFUL

National Campaign Will Soon Begin, and Then the Fur Will Fly.

(Special A. D. Dispatch.) Milwaukee, Wis., June 24.—The great republican convention is over. Roosevelt and Fairbanks have been nominated. The platform upon which the republican party will pin its faith for the next four years has been decided. Minor questions as to representation and seating of delegates were decided justly and now the convention is adjourned sine die the real work of the campaign has begun. Wisconsin is considered a doubtful state owing to the factional fight which has been in operation here for the past six years. With this in the minds of the national campaign managers Wisconsin audiences are liable to see some of the best speakers in the whole country within its borders expounding the doctrines of republicanism before the November election. The work of the state will be in the hands of the republican state central committee of which Theodore Goldin is chairman. Through him the national committee will educate the voters of this state.

Back from Chicago The Wisconsin delegation has returned from Chicago. Mr. Goldin has already begun his campaign work. Within a week the state central committee will be called together and the secretary of the committee elected. This will probably be F. R. Bentley of Baraboo, a young man who has already made a decided name for himself as an organizer. Meanwhile the La Follette campaign has begun. Before leaving Chicago Private Secretary John Hagan and a corps of clerks mailed documents especially prepared for the purpose to fully two hundred thousand republicans in the state. It is said that Governor La Follette himself will take the stump within a short time. First, however, there will be a grand collection of money from all the La Follette leaders to defray the campaign expenses. Friends of Hon. Isaac Stephenson, former congressman and a republican to the backbone, says that it will be hard for him to furnish the sheaves of war for a campaign against the republican principles. However, he expected to tilt his money barrel way up for the benefit of the administration, and do his part. Mr. Connor, the millionaire lumberman, and his associate, Mr. Stout, are also expected to be liberal donors to the fund and by these means enough is expected to carry on the fight.

At Chautauquas It is stated that the governor will not take the stump in the state until he has made a few speeches at chautauquas throughout the country, engagements for which have long been made. This may bring his actual participation into the speaking campaign along into August and September. Henry Cochems, erstwhile athlete at the University of Harvard who was disqualified by the amateur athletic union for taking part in professional events, will be chosen secretary of the La Follette state central committee.

Republican Outlook Bright Looking over the results of yesterday's convention, one is readily impressed with the fact that the chances in November largely favor the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks. The republican national committee will not actually begin its campaign until the latter part of July, when headquarters will be opened in New York and Chicago. Secretary Cortelyou was formally put in charge of the campaign, and Elmer Fowler was made secretary at the meeting of the new national committee immediately after the adjournment of the convention.

It was announced then, as a matter of course, that the republican managers would wait until after the democratic convention before inaugurating an active campaign. It will be necessary to study the democratic platform, and to have an accurate knowledge of the opposition candidates before it will be possible to lay out the issues and the lines of attack and defense.

Little Hope for Democrats Assuming, however, that the democrats nominate some clean man like Parker and adopt a platform which will reflect the conservative element of the party, it is still easy to show that the republicans have by far the greater chance of success in the coming campaign, and that their lead is no great as to render the election of Roosevelt and Fairbanks a good bet, even at this distance of time before the election, and even before the candidates and the platform of the opposition are known.

There are about thirteen sure democratic states, which include what is generally known as the "solid south," Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas, and Virginia give to the democrats an original and practically unassailable nucleus of 161 electoral votes.

There are twenty states, all, of course, in the north, which are reasonably certain to vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks, and which can be put down as surely republican landslide, California, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New —but it is better, more delicious cereal coffee than any you have ever tasted—thirty million pounds sold there last year. Father Knapp allows his picture on every package of Knapp Malt Coffee—to prevent substitution—and the dealers in this city have agreed to charge no excess notwithstanding superiority. You won't know how good cereal coffee can be until you try it.

Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Dakota, Vermont, Washington, and Wyoming give to the republicans from the present outlook, a total of 207 electoral votes.

Dozen Doubtful States There are a dozen states in the north and northwest which for one reason or another have been and still may be classed as doubtful. Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Maryland, Nevada, New Jersey, New York, Utah, West Virginia, and Wisconsin make a total of the doubtful list, which figures up 118 votes.

I believe this classification is pretty nearly accurate. The sum of the electoral votes under the new census apportionment is 476. A majority, therefore, is 239. The practically certain republican states foot up 207, or within 32 of enough to elect. The practically certain republican states foot up 161 votes, leaving a balance of 88 necessary for a democratic majority in the electoral college.

Wisconsin is now classed as a doubtful state, but those who are on the inside fully expect the absolute withdrawal of one of the two republican state tickets, which would make the state certain for Roosevelt, whatever it might be for governor. Out of this list of democratic states, therefore, it would not be at all an extraordinary thing if the republicans should carry Wisconsin, West Virginia, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Delaware, and Colorado. This would insure the election by a comfortable margin of Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

The democrats, on the alignment I have given, could carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, and Indiana, and still fall by a narrow, but decisive, majority to elect their candidates. With victory in Wisconsin, and if Indiana is as safe as the enthusiastic Fairbanks men say it now is, republican success is absolutely assured before the opening of the campaign, and without much regard to the personality or the character of the democratic candidates and their platform.

Is it any wonder the republican national convention at Chicago in 1904 was placid, and even sedate? Its candidates were defined in advance, and their success is deemed probable by inside political experts of both parties, so that the convention could well resign itself to enjoy the artistic qualities of "Uncle Joe" Cannon, the forcible, forensic eloquence of Elihu Root, and the more ambitious oratorical flights of Albert Beveridge.

INSANE PATIENTS USE LAKE WATER

Typhoid Fever Breaks Out at the State Hospital for the Insane at Madison.

Madison, Wis.—Special.—The insane patients of the state hospital at Mendota, on the shore of Lake Mendota opposite to this city, who were given the privilege of recreation in the grounds and who drank of the waters of the lake because it was cooler than the regular artesian well supply, have precipitated an epidemic of typhoid fever in that institution which has already proved fatal to a large number of patients and attendants and now threatens the capital city. Seven bodies are known to have been shipped from the hospital Saturday last, but this is denied by Dr. E. L. Bullard, superintendent, who admits, however, that the epidemic exists and that four deaths have occurred there since June 1st. Aside from this statement the hospital authorities are silent and are making strenuous efforts to suppress the facts. They maintain that they have the situation well in hand, that reports to the effect that some 45 are now ill with the dread disease is incorrect, but that 17 or 18 is the correct number. The city shores of the polluted lake is a popular point for city bath-houses patronized by thousands and physicians have warned the public against their usage. The sewerage from the hospital is discharged into Lake Mendota, the same body of water from which the hospital intake receives its supply. The state board of control has taken the matter in hand and will make an official investigation.

News for the Railroad Men.

Earnings of the third week of June of the Wisconsin Central road were $133,700, a decrease of $10,303. Since July 1 the earnings have been $6,252,651.

The city council of Chillicothe, Mo., has demanded immediate possession of all the land in Chillicothe on which the Milwaukee road's shops and division building are located.

The North-Western road will make important changes in its train service. Green Bay is to be eliminated as a terminal point and through runs will be made from Milwaukee to Menominee, Mich.

The Omaha road has inaugurated a car service between St. Louis and the Twin Cities. By an agreement with the Wabash the train will run over that road from Des Moines, Ia., to St. Louis.

DRAW BEST SIDE IN THE RACES

Wisconsin Crews Are Fortunate in Their Drawings for Position in Poughkeepsie Races.

Madison, (Special).—Wisconsin secured all the advantages of the drawings for positions in the eastern intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie. The badger oarsmen will row in water side from the shore, where the current is most advantageous and where there is none of the "swell and wash" of the shore water. The badgers have no crew this year in the freshmen race of two miles, owing to the poverty of the Wisconsin athletic association and also to the fact that Coach O'Dea concluded that the freshmen this year were "too long and spindly" for good races.

In the varsity eight-oared race of four miles the western representatives drew the extreme outside course, number six, Cornell having number five and Syracuse, Pennsylvania, Columbia and Georgetown the courses toward the shore. In the four-oared race over the twainle course Wisconsin rows well out in the stream, Pennsylvania having the outer course and Cornell being placed on the course toward the shore from Wisconsin. In this position the badgers are assured of good pacing and good water, two desirable circumstances.

Wisconsin also drew well for the freshmen race, the outside course, and for this reason it is now regretted that the youngsters are not on the train that is now bearing the Wisconsin oarsmen east. In the absence of any announcement by Coach O'Dea various statements are current, but made here to the effect that "Andy" has a sure winner up his sleeve, that the Wisconsin crew have been rowing in record time, but these statements are probably untrue, although it is known that the men in both boats have been rowing fast and strong.

BRIEF SUMMARY OF THE PARTY

Roosevelt Is the Thirteenth Candidate for President—Is It Lucky?

During its half century career the republican party has nominated thirteen candidates for president, four of these being twice chosen—Lincoln, Grant, Harrison and McKinley. Theodore Roosevelt is the ninth man the party has presented for the highest office in our government. The eighth came from California—Fremont; from Illinois—Lincoln; from Illinois again—Grant; from Ohio—Hayes; from Ohio again—Garfield; from Maine—Blaine; from Indiana—Harrison; from Ohio the third time—McKinley. And now for the first time one hails from New York—Roosevelt.

From 1864 down to 1896 the democrats, on their other hand, nominated none but New York men—McClellan, Seymour, Grooley, Tilden, Hancock and Cleveland.

This year the republicans have broken all precedents by going to New York for their candidate. As the probabilities are very strong the democrats will now give up their fruitless wanderings in the west for a leader who can win and return to New York for their standard bearer, the country is likely to witness the unprecedented spectacle of two great rivals for the presidency hailing from the same state, and that the largest and politically most uncertain state of the union.

Since its birth the republican party has elected six of the eight men it has named for president—falling only with Fremont and Blaine, though Hayes was legally seated without being chosen by the people. A third republican defeat was that of Harrison for a second term.

The party which concluded its work in Chicago yesterday by the unanimous nomination of Roosevelt and Fairbanks has been victorious—including Hayes—in nine out of twelve presidential campaigns fought during its career.

OGDEN FETHERS ON SITUATION

Janesville Man Expresses His Idea as Regards the Outcome of the Election.

Ogden F. Fethers, one of the members of the committee appointed to notify President Roosevelt of his nomination and one of the delegates from the first congressional district, who was an interested listener to the proceedings before the committee while the Wisconsin case was under consideration, says:

"The unanimous decision of the national committee, the unanimous decision of the subcommittee and the regular credential committee, as well as the unanimous decision of the convention itself, in seating the Spooner delegates, it seems to me, is conclusive.

"This decision was arrived at after as careful and deliberate consideration as could be given the case by any set of men. The investigation required six hours of the time of the national committee and twelve hours were devoted to the consideration of the case by the subcommittee on credentials. Old members of the party men who have attended conventions for years, informed me that no contest has ever received a more careful and considerate hearing than did the La Follette men during the week.

Either Must Be In or Out of Party "The manner of their withdrawal from further contesting the case, will, by the La Follette men themselves, be recognized as a reflection upon their judgment when they come to consider the matter without the heat and disappointment of defeat ranking as an influence to bias their judgment. They either must be in line with the regular republican party of the United States or out of the party."

"I feel certain that the great mass of voters of Wisconsin who have supported Gov. La Follette in the past will adhere to the decision of the national republican convention rather than follow further the personal ambitions of any man. Within sixty days I expect the calmness and reason will prevail and that the entire party, united and strong, will go forward to victory under Roosevelt, Fairbanks, and Cook."

A WOMAN TO BE PRETTY

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair, No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed. Newlin's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops the falling hair, and prevents baldness. Sold by leading druggists. VERDICT OF THE PARTY
The republican national convention in session June 22, 1904, adopted by unanimous vote, the following sentiment, contained in the report of the committee on credentials, and offered by said committee after a thorough investigation of the Wisconsin contingent, report it to be their final judgment and unanimous decision that the convention which elected John C. Spooner, Joseph V. Quarles, Joseph W. Babcock and Emil Baensch, as delegates-at-large, together with their alternates, was the regular convention of the republican party in Wisconsin.
This is the highest authority in the party, and the decision ought to satisfy every loyal republican in the state.

ONLY ONE PARTY.

The action of the republican national convention, on the much discussed Wisconsin contest is final, so far as the judgment of the national party is concerned. It is idle to claim that the verdict rendered was the result of hasty action, or that the convention was influenced by prejudice, however, much occasion there was to feel insulted over the manifesto issued by Governor La Follette and his colleagues.

The National convention represents the brain and intelligence of the republican party. The committee on credentials was composed of fifty men, coming from as many states and comprising as fair a tribunal as could be selected to pass upon any question. This committee appointed three of its members to act as a subcommittee, with instructions to enter fully into the details of the Wisconsin contest, and report when the work was completed.

This subcommittee was in session most of the night, taking up the nine contested counties, one at a time, and examining carefully all the evidence presented. When the work was finished they were convinced that the Spooner delegation was entitled to seats in the convention, and signed a unanimous report to that effect.

This report went before the committee of 50 and met with unanimous approval. This committee in preparing their report used the language at the head of this column, which defines what in their judgment constitutes the republican party in Wisconsin, and this sentiment was endorsed by the unanimous vote of the convention.

This, in brief, is a statement of the statutes of the party, as defined by the national republican party, and it is safe to say that the verdict will satisfy the rank and file of the party in the state. It is the verdict of the highest tribunal known to the party, and settles for all time the difference between republicanism and La Folletteism.

Governor La Follette rebels at the action of the committee, and says in writing that he will submit the matter to the republican voters of the state. In other words he proposes to defy the national party, and inaugurate an independent movement, in the interests of personal ambition. The national convention has declared his convention irregular. He proposes to prove that he is right, and the national party wrong, and he expects the republicans of the state to stand by him in making the demonstration. To say that he will be disappointed is to predict what is apparent to every republican in the state who is not blinded by prejudice.

That he has had a faithful and enthusiastic following, no one will question, and that he is a tireless worker, and magnetic leader, is generally recognized. The reforms which he has advanced have been popular, because they appeal to prejudice. The masses like to be told that they are the "under dog," that corporations are corrupt and grinding, that a primary law is the missing link, and that machine politics is a curse to the state.

But reform is a good word to conjure with, and as the lid has been removed from several unsavory dishes, the fact has gradually dawned upon the Governor's followers, that other motives than the public good were strongly in evidence, and for the past six months he has been steadily losing ground.

He was fairly beaten at the state convention and overwhelmingly defeated at the national convention. While the average man admires a good fighter, he also admires the man who submits gracefully to defeat. The republicans of Wisconsin are like all other republicans. They believe in the party and support it loyally. There is but one republican party in the state, and it will be a unit after the fourth of November.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY.

The platform adopted by the national convention will be the key note of the national campaign. It recites briefly the history of the party, during the past 44 years and tells why public confidence is enjoyed to such large extent.

The wonderful strides which have been made during the past eight years, are vividly brought out and the record is inspiring to every lover of the party.

The forecasts of the policy to be pursued is clear and well defined and renewed confidence will result. Many questions which entered into the campaign four years ago, have settled themselves under the wise management of the party in power. The gold standard, our island possessions, the Cuban situation, the army and navy and other questions which commanded attention, have been settled leaving only the tariff as an issue between the two great parties.

The republican party is not only the father of protection, but it is the guardian as well. That it proposes to live up to the full measure of responsibility this year is evidenced in the following paragraph:

"Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal policy of the republican party. The measure of protection should always, at least, equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad.

"We insist upon the maintenance of the principles of protection and, therefore, rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have no changed that the public interest demands their attention. But this work cannot safely be committed to any other hands than those of the republican party. To intrust it to the democratic party is to invite disaster. Whether, as in 1892, the democratic party declared the protective tariff reform or tariff revision, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system.

"However specious the name, the purpose is over the same. A democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity, a republic tariff by business prosperity.

"To a republican congress and a republican president this great question can be safely intrusted. When the only free trade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

The republican party is the party of progress. It possesses broad intelligence, strong convictions, marked ability, and hard common sense. It is a honor to any man to be able to say, "I am a republican," and the honor was never greater than today.

The republican party has declared itself through its platform. Its record is an open book which speaks for itself, and its future is full of promise.

There will be half a million first voters this year, and it is safe to say that a large majority of them will vote the republican ticket.

MADISON GOLF CLUB ARRIVES

THIRTEEN PLAYERS MET AT DE-POT THIS MORNING.

CONTEST THIS AFTERNOON

Was Witnessed by a Large Crowd of Spectators—Entertainment
at Club House.

At half-past ten o'clock this morning the thirteen members of the Maple Bluff Golf club of Madison arrived at the St. Paul depot and were escorted to the clubhouse at the carry-all, the Blodgett automobile and several private carriages in waiting. The morning was spent in practice work at the links and the occasional showers only helped to make things interesting.

Roster of Visitors
Besides the team members there were a large number of the other members of the golf club on hand to welcome the visitors. Dinner was served at the clubhouse at one o'clock. The Madisonians were: Frank Jacobs, Eugene Sanborn, William Royce, A. W. Tressler, F. A. Pyre, Harry Curtis, John Main, R. H. Kropf, H. E. Patten, A. A. Meggett, H. L. Butler, and S. E. Sparling.

The Janesville Players
The Janesville players who entered the contest with the Maple Bluff team this afternoon were: Al Schaller, Leo Brownell, H. S. McGiffin, Charles Achterberg, O. Sutherland, M. Valentine, C. C. MacLean, H. G. Carter, George Baumann, J. P. Baker, F. T. Field, H. R. King, and Fred Sheldin.

GARDEN OF EDEN STUNT REBUKED

Frank Copplin Started to Change
Clothes in Hay-Mow, But Went to Sleep—Drunks in Court.

"Had you been drinking?"
"Not a great deal."
"As much as he could get."
This little colloquy took place in municipal court this morning between Judge Field, Frank Copplin, and Acting Chief John Brown. B. F. Blanchard who is guardian of Copplin bought his ward a suit of clothes yesterday and in celebration of the event the ward is alleged to have partaken freely of the flowing honey-mow later to have retired to a hay-mow to don his new apparel. After divesting himself of his worn raiment Copplin is alleged to have forgotten the balance of his task and soothed by the fragrance of the new mown sward to have sunk into a dreamless slumber. Someone ventured into his Eden at length and discovered this Adam clothed in nothing but a peaceful smile and complained to the police. So Mr. Copplin was arrested for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The judge suspended sentence on him on promise that he should go to Rockford before tomorrow morning and stay there. Mr. Copplin said that he would endeavor to secure the price of a ticket from the guardian. John Sowell and Michael Conlin were each fined $3 and costs for drunkenness with the alternative of nine days in jail. Both thought they could secure the money.

CUTS THE PRICES MANY MILLIONS

Philadelphia Man Has Discovered
New Method of Making
Priceless Radium.

The many students of science in the city who have been interested in the recent discovery of radium will rejoice to know that the price is soon to be cut from sixteen million dollars a pound to five hundred thousand dollars a pound. The members of the Twilight club will remember with interest the evening of the club and the bits of radium which Prof. Smith of Beloit college exhibited. To Prof. Lee of Philadelphia belongs the credit for the new discovery which will enable the manufacturers of the precious particles to reduce the price fifteen and a half millions a pound.

Mad Dog Scare: Acting Chief Brown was requested to dispatch a tramp dog which had been hanging around the Fenton home on Madison street yesterday afternoon. TAN SHOES HAVE COME INTO STYLE

West is a Year Ahead of the Effete East, as Usual, But the Shoes Are Now the Order.

In Janesville tan shoes are all the go. If they are only for street wear and it is improper to wear them at social functions, many commit a breach of etiquette often, for tan shoes, especially oxfords, are being worn on all occasions in Janesville.

"Not more than a dozen pair of tan shoes were worn in Janesville last summer, and now we have hard work keeping up the demand," says a downtown shoe merchant. One dealer who states that he sold three pairs up to this time last year, claims that he has already sold between ten and fifteen dozen pairs.

What is the reason? It is simply this: The west is just one year behind the east in the matter of styles and last summer everyone, or at least those considered stylish in the east, wore tan shoes. The craze reached Janesville through traveling men and visitors, and now it seems that every member of Janesville's smart set and every driver in town is wearing tan shoes. Some believe in the "Pocahontas" toe, which is pointed and called a freak style by those who sell them, while others wear a straight last shoe, but the effect varies but slightly as most all of them are tan. Because tan shoes have no oil in them they are comfortable and cool, which is a big advantage over a patent leather shoe, they being very warm on the feet.

Then, too, the ladies wear tan shoes extensively. The tans will also be worn a great deal next summer, according to the predictions of the shoe dealers.

Regular train service on the Denver Northern Pacific Railroad, (the Moffatt line) between Denver and Minneapolis, forty-seven and one-half miles, was inaugurated yesterday.

GREAT PLANS FOR THE ONLY SHOW

Col. None Such Tells of a Few of the Features of His Million Dollar Circus.

"Have you heard from your wild animal agent, Col.?" was the question asked Col. John None Such in front of the Grand hotel this afternoon. The colonel turned with a look of mild reproach and said solemnly: "Why, sir, my agent has reported to me that never before has a band of human monkeys as he has this year. He has gathered them from Monterey and Spring Brook, from the wilds of aristocracy hill, the chaparral of Five Points, one wondrous white mule sacred to the inhabitants of Milton Junction, numerous elephants, cowboys from North Main street, dog eating humans who play weird music that have been found roving about the law offices, clown, bare-back riders, men who can loop any gap between the bar and their mouths and do it many times daily; in fact, all the curious objects of interest which this highly educated and cultivated settlement on the banks of the Rock river can boast of. Why, sir, it will be the greatest, the biggest and the most laughable parade that has ever been seen. The innocent bystander will be an object of pity to the performer who rides on a street scraper converted into a chariot, or a lumber wagon which blossoms out as the cage of the rare and curious beast. My agent is doing his work well, sir, and you may tell the people of Janesville that the billion dollar attraction will make the Ringling Bros.' exhibit look like an old-fashioned one-ring circus." And the "Col." means it.

INTEREST INCREASING DAILY

Great Enthusiasm Shown By Friends of Contestants Striving For Gazette's Free Trips to the World's Fair.

People are entering into the contest recently inaugurated by the Gazette for a Free Trip to the World's Fair, St. Louis, with considerable spirit. Votes have been coming to the office for candidates and there are a goodly number to the credit of the various contestants.

The prize is well worth an extra amount of hustle: A week's outing at the greatest Exposition ever attempted in any country, absolutely without cost and without the loss of time, including every convenience one could desire, is not an every day occurrence.

The premium in votes for new paid in advance subscriptions is large, and a little time spent each day in looking around for people not already subscribers will result in much good.

The wife of the most popular man, if he has one, goes to the Fair with him and she can do much toward securing the outing for both

PRESS COMMENT.

Chicago Tribune: The intimation clear and unmistakable that Gov. La Follette should take a tumble to himself.

Oshkosh Northwestern: That Chicago decision has placed the rollers under Governor La Follette, and all that is needed now is for some one to give him a push.

Chicago Record-Herald: La Follette and Spooner had it in their power to enliven the convention, but they couldn't agree on the size of the gloves.

Racine Times: A New York woman bought nineteen hats in twelve weeks and her husband applied for a divorce in the thirteenth week. Can you blame him?

Green Bay Gazette: Harvard university is paying a dollar a dozen for hats. Many a man has paid more than that for a single one and considered himself lucky.

Menasha Citizen: If it be true that Sir Thomas will challenge for the America's cup in 1905 it will only go to show that Sir T. realizes that it pays to advertise.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The president of Brown university thinks the "American people are bound nowhere under full sail." Well, the wind is fair and the weather is fine, anyhow.

Richland Center Observer: Commencement essays are nearly all in, and the Oriental trouble is still unsettled.

Merrill Advocate: Even the courts can not go back of the evidence presented by the national committee or the decision of the convention. They will have to find the verdict confirmatory of the action of the convention.

Menasha Record: Oh, the horror of it! The cruel, hard-hearted Republican national committee has robbed La Follette of the opportunity to wave his hands, rub his pompadour and stampede the convention for himself, ala Bryan in 1896.

Milwaukee Journal: Advice for La Follette.—Cheer up. The world is taking your photograph. Look pleasant. Of course you have your troubles, troubles you cannot tell the policemen. A whole lot of things bother you. Of course. Business worries or domestic sorrows, it may be, or what not. You find a rugged road whose stones hurt your feet. Nevertheless—Cheer up.

Appleton Post: As William J. Bryan and Robert M. La Follette are not at all pleased with their respective parties, what's the matter with their "mutualizing" in fact as they have long been in spirit and forming a new party with Gen. Corey, as a fallender, so to speak? What a pulsant triumph that would be, to be sure.

Fond du Lac Reporter: La Follette's bolt is now complete. His managers passed up the case in Chicago Tuesday with charging the committee on credentials in the Republican national convention with having been "approached" in the interests of the stalwarts. From now on the governor will make a bushwhacking campaign.

Milwaukee News: In taking this course, Gov. La Follette and his associates become bolters from the Republican national organization. They refuse to recognize the supremacy and authority of the highest tribunal in the party. This is ordinarily called bolting. The important feature of the affair is that Gov. La Follette and his faction are on their own motion, no longer in affiliation with the Republican national organization.

El Paso Herald: Rather a sad hunk of news for men folks with cherished nasal organs is the information that the patents on artificial mink having run out, that odoriferous product is henceforth to sell at about a twentieth its former price. But there are some women who believe in fighting the Pittsburg story of the masculine end of the household with mink, and they will probably rejoice.

Edwin Hawley has retired from the directorate of the Southern Pacific from the Pacific Mail Steamship company and from all Harriman properties. Difference of opinion with Mr. Harriman over the management of the Alton is said to be the cause of Hawley's retirement.

The directors of the Lake Shore and the New York Central met yesterday and perfected organization for the year. E. V. Rossiter was elected vice-president of the Lake Shore to succeed E. D. Worcester, Dwight W. Purlee was elected secretary of the New York Central succeeding Mr. Rossiter.
